

JASCHA SPIVAKOVSKY

Foto mit Widmung von Prof. Mayer- Mahr, Lehrer am Klindworth-Scharwenka Konservatorium Berlin für den Pianisten Jascha Spivakovsky (1896-1970)

Berlin, 1912

Renowned pedagogue

Berlin, 1912

Spivakovsky's main teacher at the Klindworth-Scharwenka Conservatorium was Professor Moritz Mayer-Mahr, the renowned pedagogue who had been a direct student of the immortals Franz Liszt and Anton Rubinstein. When Spivakovsky completed his studies in 1910, the Professor provided this written endorsement: "My young pupil is without doubt one of the great talents of our time" and the Conservatorium Director and conductor, Robert Robitschek, presented Spivakovsky with a certificate which he had inscribed: "The undersigned director can say that in his experience there have been no similar cases of such meaningful musical intellect and rhythmical gifts."

studies in 1910, the Professor provided this written endorsement: "My young pupil is without doubt one of the great talents of our time" and the Conservatorium Director and conductor, Robert Robitschek, presented Spivakovsky with a certificate which he had inscribed: "The undersigned director can say that in his experience there have been no similar cases of such meaningful musical intellect and rhythmical gifts."